HONGKONG, 23rd June, 1903.

ONE marked source of weakness in the present style of administration of government in England is the marked prominence given to party words connected on the spur of the moment, and supposed to contain within themselves the kernel of a policy.
In China we are suffering from the after-effects of a policy of laissez faire, which can, not indistinctly, be traced to the unfortunate adoption by the party in office of a chance aphorism of Lord Salisbury, "the Open Door." In the beginning, Lord Salisbury intended to express something very definite, and the policy of the Open Door did mean something which at the time was advisable and practical.
Times and conditions change, but these party cries have a dangerous habit of out-living their utility, and so are apt to become sources of detriment, or at best of inaction on the part of those with whom they once stood as a witness of energy. So too Lord Rosebery's aphorism of the "Clean Slate" has within little less than a twelvemonth come to express a policy on the part of the Opposition very different from the sense in which its author intended it should be employed, and it has certainly not been conducive to the higher estimation of the leaders of the party by whom it was adopted as the quintessence of political acumen.
Seen in this light we must express our unqualified condemnation of the last of these apparently innocent apophthegms—that of Lord Goschen with regard to Mr.
CHAMBERLAIN's suggested financial policy of the future. Lord Goschen has, in fact, ventured into waters too deep for his stature, however commanding. He is doubtless a conscientious free-trader, but so is every prominent statesman of the day in England, with the possible exception of Mr. CHAMBERLAIN, the phrase which he used—of "gambling with the food of two people"— is one that would strike at the root of all commerce, whether carried on free-trade or protectionist lines. None knows better than he that every important operation, be it fiscal, commercial or political, in its very essence partakes of the nature of "gambling," and as the food of the people constitutes the life's blood of the commerce of the people, so it is in its very essence from day to day the most subject to the imputation of gambling. The very name by which our great merchants were, three centuries ago, proud to distinguish themselves is an indication of the fact of the large part played by chance in every merchant venture. In the new sense in which Lord Goschen chooses to stigmatise the suggestions of Mr. CHAMBERLAIN as "gambling," CORDEN and Sir ROBERT PEEL were the greatest gamblers of the age, and the great Budget of Sir ROBERT PEEL, which has dominated the course of British finance from that to this, was the greatest piece of gambling of modern times. Doubtless, now that this latest champion of freedom of trade has had time to reflect, he has seen that his hasty argument may be made to cut both ways.

In one sense no reform, however advantageous to the country at large, but has been followed by consequences unfor-seen by its author, how sapient however may have been his reasonings, and Free Trade is no exception to the rule. One of the undoubted results of Free Trade and open competition has been that a large extent of land, which under altered conditions could not be worked at a profit, has been thrown out of cultivation; and though from a merely commercial standpoint this has been no disadvantage to the country at large, which has distinctly gained by the cheaper rate at which food-stuffs have been obtainable in other quarters, there are political disadvantages inseparable from such a condition of affairs. One of the chief of these is that owing to political complications abroad there may arise difficulties in procuring a regular supply, and so the country may be momentarily placed in a state of siege by the action of one or more foreign Powers conspiring together to cut off the necessary supplies. Of late the possibility of such a condition has forced itself unpleasantly on the mind of the nation, and the question has been asked, Is it good that a nation desirous of occupying itself with the affairs of the world should find itself hampered with a prospect of having to surrender at discretion without the opportunity of striking a blow in self-defence? The dilemma is reduced almost to absurdity when we take into consideration that within the limits of our own Empire there is sufficient to feed not only the entire of the homelands, but to leave an enormous margin besides. A trade such as would have to be called into existence to meet such a demand is not the work of a day; and it is a fair subject of consideration whether on the whole a slight increase on our present light burdens by way of insurance would not be wise on our part. On the subject whether it would or not we are not going to dogmatise; the matter is a wide one, and must be fought out on its merits. A far wider range of subjects than the mere abstract question of Free Trade is here at issue; it may even be that the whole question of the continuance of empire rests on our decision. It is not at the moment a matter of life or death, but we know not how soon it may assume an importance at present undreamt of. This is all we take it, Mr. CHAMBERLAIN meant by bringing the subject forward in the present conjunction of affairs. At all events the subject of food-supply in case of war has impressed itself sufficiently seriously on the public conscience to call for the appointment of a Royal Commission; Mr. CHAMBERLAIN's proposals, however startling they may be at the moment appear, are but a natural corollary to the problem, and as such are deserving of the widest and freest discussion.
The matter is of far wider import than the academic question of the merits and demerits of Free Trade and Protection; and involves subjects of the highest possible politics of Empire.

vines, and 4,426 forest trees.

Faustino Guillermo, the most famous bandit of Luzon, P.I., was captured in the mountains of Rizal on the 11th inst. and is a prisoner in Bilibid. His capture was the result of a counterplot devised when the discovery was made that Guillermo was plotting to secure the desertion of a detachment of constabulary located at Cainta.

The band performance last evening on the Parade Ground was well attended and an excellent selection of music was given by the band and pipers of the 3rd Burma. By the way, it was subject of complaint that the grass on the Parade Ground gets too long to permit of listeners promiscuously with any degree of comfort.

At a congress representing the municipal bodies of the Transvaal on the 18th ult., Lord Milner made an interesting speech in the course of which he dealt with the Asiatic immigration question. While declaring himself resolutely opposed to their indiscriminate influx, he deprecated exaggeration of that policy which would lose sight of differences of civilisation in blind prejudice against colour. The draft ordinance as published confers the vote on all, irrespective of colour or nationality, who possess a certain property and education qualification.

A correspondent of the National-Zeitung regard the outrages at Kishineff as purely anti-Semitic in character. He attributes them in

The island of Heligoland, which was British from 1807 until 1891, when it was sold to Germany, is to be "repaired." One last effort is to be made to save it from disintegration.
During the recent gales large masses of saline rock have fallen on the western side, owing to the wash of the sea and the influence of rains.
It is now proposed to begin work on a large scale, with the object of endeavouring to check further ruin. The large caves are to be filled with cement, and in one threatened spot a thick wall 15 metres high is to be raised against the sea. These operations, which have been ordered by the Kaiser, will occupy two years. There is a wide-spread opinion in German naval circles that the island must be preserved at all costs to protect the mouths of the Elbe and Weser.

The N.-C. Daily News in its Notes on Native Affairs gives two items of information from Hankow. One despatch reports that on the 10th instant a large portion of the district of Mach'ing, Hapeh, was suddenly inundated by the rising of the river there, resulting in the flooding of over 100,000 mu of cultivated land.
Thousands of families have accordingly lost their all, but it is not yet known how many lives have been lost. Sung'ui, in Mach'ing district, was the scene of the murder of two Swedish missionaries by a mob in July, 1893.
According to another Hankow report the Lekin Bureau of Hapeh province has ordered the establishment of a new lekun office at Chi'ia okon, where there is a station of the Lu-Han Railway. This does not look very much like the approaching abolition of lekun, towards which the negotiators of the new commercial treaties have been working so hard the past ten months or so, the N.-C. Daily News adds.

"To arrange for an attempt to sink an artesian well at Phra Pratom, is not to grant a concession for the Bangkok water-supply." That ought to be self-evident, says the Bangkok Times, and yet from our statement that the Dock Co. is to sink an artesian well at Phra Pratom for the Ministry of the Interior, the Siam Free Press makes the deduction that the contract for the Bangkok water supply is already signed between the Bangkok Dock Co. and H. H. R. Prince Damrong. Moreover, this quite inaccurate deduction is further referred to as a "fact" too real and stern to be denied. But the imaginative feat is no doubt due to political zeal, the Bangkok Times continues, as indeed is evident from such other statements in the article as
"M. Delacasse finds himself the victim of Siam's duplicité once more," "M. Delacasse finds himself day-to-day laughed to scorn," "M. Delacasse finds himself to-day the hopeless dupe and laughing stock of Bangkok diplomacy." By the way, the Bangkok Dock Co. is not a British firm, the Times points out. But the Siam Free Press can hardly be taken seriously, even by itself.

The Siberian route for the homeward mails, the imprimatur of the Banks, who have decided that Friday is to be the weekly mail-day in future, and who will no longer despatch the mails for Europe by sea.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. ARBUTHNOT.

Captain and Mrs. Arbuthnot returned last night on the Stanley from their trip on the West River. The steamer left Hongkong on the 11th and anchored the same night under Lantau. Next morning Macao was reached and there a stop was made until Tuesday at noon. Samsui was the next place of call; then Shanghai was made for, the Sandpiper acting as a belated escort en route. On Wednesday the Stanley went to Lokum and Captain and Mrs.
Arbuthnot made a trip by boat and mountain-chair to the Buddhist Temple. On the 20th they returned to Samsui; on the 21st they breakfasted on board the Sandpiper, after which the Stanley proceeded by way of Monongony Creek to Canton, arriving at 3 p.m. on Sunday.
She left for Hongkong yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and in the record time of 5½ hours reached Tungshing (Lantau) where a stay of two hours was made, and the Stanley got alongside Hsiao Pier at 7.15 last night. Captain W. Robinson was in command of the Stanley during the trip and did all the piloting himself.

HEALTH OF HONGKONG.

During the week ended 20th June there were 52 cases of plague (2 Europeans, 1 Indian, 1 Portuguese, and 48 Chinese) and 47 deaths (1 Indian, 1 Portuguese, and 45 Chinese). Two Chinese died of cholera during the same period.

An analysis of the year's figures shows that from 1st January till the 20th inst. there were 1,222 cases of plague distributed as follows—33 Europeans, 1,132 Chinese, and 58 other Asiatics. The deaths numbered 1,089, namely:
4 Europeans, 1,033 Chinese, and 52 other Asiatics.

The returns of plague cases for the two days ended yesterday at noon show a slight increase over those of preceding days. There were 22 cases, and these included 1 European from the Central Police Station, 1 European from 14, Morrison Hill Road and no less than 10 Portuguese from the P. & O. steamer Balaarat, which, it will be remembered, went into quarantine last Thursday immediately on her arrival from Singapore. Although the Acting Medical Officer of Health's return describes the patients from the Balaarat as Portuguese, we understand that they are really Goanese—natives of Portuguese India.
Of the remaining 10 cases on the list, one was a Japanese from 39, Elgin Road, Kowloon, another a Parsee from 49, Hollywood Road, and the remainder were Chinese. Seven of the latter died, and four of the bodies were dumped.

TELEGRAM.

REUTER'S SERVICE.

THE SITUATION IN SOMALILAND.

London, 20th June.

In reply to enquiries, Col. Swann, commanding at Boctale, telegraphs that between the 13th May and 11th June 973 of General Manning's force had reached Boctale. No news of General Manning had been received since 18th June, but deserters state that he had not been attacked. The Mullahs were sixty miles north-east of Damot; his livestock had passed within 37 miles of Boctale under cover of mounted troops, with the remainder of his troops within supporting distance. One battalion of infantry could be usefully employed.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BROKERS' COMMISSIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Hongkong, 22nd June.

SIR,—The correspondence between the Chamber of Commerce and the Brokers' Association is certainly amusing; but I hardly think the general public want to see a discussion as to whether the brokers do not act impartially now a change in the system of charging brokerage will not make them do so. I certainly think the right system is to charge the seller only, but if a change is made the chief point is to reduce the present exorbitant charges in the way of brokerage on some stocks.

In China Prosidents $10 stock, 15 cents is charged on sale and purchase = 3 per cent.; National Banks $27 stock, 50 cents = 4 per cent.; Douglass $40 stock, 50 cents = 2½ per cent.; Watkins $3 stock 15 cents = 4 per cent.; Hongkong Electric (new) $7 stock, 10 cents = 3 per cent.

Why should we in Hongkong have to pay on some stocks 2 per cent. to 4 per cent. to a broker when in other parts in the East the charge is 1 per cent. to the seller only on small stock and a small percentage on large stocks? A fair charge would be 1 per cent. commission to the seller on stocks to the value of $50, ½ per cent. from $50 to $200, and ¼ per cent. on high values, and it is to be hoped that the Chamber of Commerce will take the matter up again and get it settled by a charge of a fair percentage on the turnover (to the seller). In the meantime my advice is invest in large stocks; it is far better, other things being equal, to buy and sell say 100 Doles value about $20,000 and pay $100 brokerage than to buy and sell say 2,000 China Prosidents value about $20,000 and pay $600 brokerage.—Yours, etc., X.

THE SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE.

Hongkong, 22nd June.

SIR,—I should be very grateful to you if you would kindly permit me to make use of your valuable paper for the purpose of making known our "Library" wants. It sometimes happens that one does not well know what to do with the numerous back numbers of papers, magazines, etc., sent from home. As the Seamen's Mission annually sends some hundreds of parcels of reading matter to us, we need a large quantity of books, periodicals, etc., for this purpose as well as for the tables of the Seamen's Institute, Kowloon. The sailor is a great reader at sea, and needs a good deal of reading matter to while away the lonely hours of a long voyage. Papers of all descriptions and in all European languages are welcome, but illustrated papers and magazines are in great demand. Parcels may be sent to me at the Seamen's Institute, Kowloon, or at the Sailors' Home, West Point. I may also mention that I should be very thankful for men's clothing for the use of men in destitute circumstances.
Thanking you in anticipation.—Yours, etc., T. WRIGHT,
Seamen's Chaplain.

(UN-) CONQUERED SCOTLAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Hongkong, 22nd June.

SIR,—I have read the letter which appeared in your issue of this morning by "An Unconquerable Scot" with amusement if not with instruction. Judging this person by his letter, it is difficult to escape from the conclusion that he is an exact prototype of the Scotchman so accurately described in Mr.
Crosland's instructive book.

The exact circumstances under which Scotland had the good fortune to be absorbed into the British realm have long since been forgotten by the average Englishman and it is not clear in what way the matter can be of interest now, apart to anybody or why it should have called forth the passionate and foolish letter referred to above.—Yours, etc., ENGLISHMAN.

RUMOURS OF A NEW GERMAN BANK IN THE EAST.

With reference to the telegram from the Ostasiatische Lloyd, which we published yesterday, announcing the establishment of a new bank in Berlin with branches in Hongkong and Calcutta, we have made enquiries in the best-informed German banking circles in the Colony and are led to understand that the story is extremely improbable. During the past three or four years rumours about the starting of a new Far Eastern bank with headquarters at Berlin have been again and again bruited abroad, but nothing practical has ever come out of them.

If an Oriental bank were about to be established it is considered unlikely that Hongkong and Calcutta would be selected for the branches: Hongkong and Shanghai would be the more natural centres for a China bank.

COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Legislative Council was held yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber.

Financial Minutes (Nos. 14 to 24) and moved that they be referred to the Finance Committee.
The COLONIAL TREASURER seconded, and
the motion was agreed to.

The COLONIAL SECRETARY laid on the table Report of the Finance Committee (No. 3) and moved its adoption.

The COLONIAL TREASURER seconded, and
the motion was agreed to.

WATERWORKS AT TAIPO.

The DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS laid on the table the Report of the Public Works Committee (No. 1), which was in the following terms:—

"Water Supply for Quarters, Police Station, and Police Launches at Tai Po.—The Chairman laid before the Committee a proposal for obtaining a supply from a stream near Tai Po, at a point above the cultivated area bordering its course, and conveying the water in an open catchwater and in pipes to the island where the landing place is situated or on which it is intended to erect quarters. A branch pipe to be carried across the embankment forming the Tai Po Road for the supply of the Police Station and the existing temporary quarters. The estimated cost of the work was $3,720. It was unanimously agreed to recommend that provision for the work be made in the Estimates for 1904. The Committee then adjourned."

PAPERS.

the reports for 1902 of the Botanical and Agricultural Department, the Post Office, the Harbour Master, the Acting Registrar-General, the Police, the Superintendent of the Fire Brigade, and the Government Bacteriologist; and the report on the health and sanitary condition of the Colony.

RATES AT KOWLOON.

received to that letter, but that the report had been laid on the table and was accessible to the Press if they wanted it?

No. 4. Do the Government propose to print and circulate Dr. Pearson's report in terms of his resolution? Or is it true, as rumoured, that the report has been withdrawn from circulation? and that the information which has been placed at the disposal of the Chinese will not be available for European land-owners?

No. 5. Do the Government approve of the request of the Chairman that the Europeans should leave the meeting of land-owners above referred to?

Will the Government instruct the Government Printers to print a larger number of copies of Ordinances, as it appears that the Passenger Act (No. 1 of 1899, Chinese Consolidation Ordinance) is now out of print and cannot be supplied.

FIRST READINGS.

The following Bills were submitted and read a first time.—A Bill entitled an Ordinance to repeal the New Territories Road Rectory Ordinance; a Bill entitled an Ordinance to amend the Holidays Ordinance, 1875 (No. 6 of 1875); a Bill entitled an Ordinance to give effect to an Order in Council made by His Majesty the King on the 12th day of March, 1903, relating to the Marriages of British Subjects in Foreign Countries; a Bill entitled an Ordinance to authorize and regulate the establishment and use of installations for the purpose of Wireless Telegraphy; a Bill entitled an Ordinance to amend the Malay States (Fugitive Criminals) Surrender Ordinance, 1903.

STOWAWAYS ORDINANCE.

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL moved the second reading of the Bill entitled an Ordinance to provide for the more effectual prevention of frauds on owners and charterers of ship by stowaways, their aiders and abettors. He said—Hon. members of the Council are aware of the events that have led to the introduction of this Bill. The subject of the Bill and the reasons for its being introduced are as set forth in the memorandum which I have attached to the Bill itself. The Bill has been in the hands of hon. members for a considerable time now and I have no doubt they have made themselves acquainted with what the Government considered to justify the passage of this Bill. As I have stated in the objects and reasons of the Ordinance in its provisions, and to be effective I think you will agree with me it is necessary that the Ordinance should be drastic. It is reduced now to this shape in the hope that it will put an end to the nuisance that has been for a long time inflicted upon shipowners by persons stowing-away on their ships. The nuisance has been felt particularly by those trading between Hongkong and the Philippine Islands; and in one case, which is mentioned in the objects and reasons, a very heavy security, $70,000 gold, was required from the owners of one of the steamers taking stowaways from here to the Philippines, because of the excess number of passengers carried. The owners protested that the excess number was not carried with their sanction or knowledge, but were stowaways. Under the law as it stands a fine of $500 or six months' imprisonment can be imposed on each stowaway, his aider and abettor; but it appears that that penalty, which at the first blush is severe has not been severe enough to stop the practice of stowing-away. It is believed indeed that the profits arising from the successful running of a cargo of stowaways make it worth while to run the chance of a fine of this amount. This Ordinance therefore proposes to invest the Magistrate with the power to impose a term of imprisonment in addition to or in lieu of a fine, and it is believed and hoped that the threat of imprisonment will deter those who at present are engaged in this what may be called nefarious practice.

The COLONIAL SECRETARY seconded, and the motion was agreed to.

The Council afterwards resolved itself into Committee and considered the Bill clause by clause. On resuming,

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL moved the third reading of the Bill.

The COLONIAL SECRETARY seconded.

The Bill was read a third time and passed.

A meeting of the Finance Committee was held immediately after the Council, the Colonial Secretary (Hon. F. H. May, C.M.G.) presiding.

The vote was agreed to.

This was all the business.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, 2nd June.

BEFORE MR. F. A. HAZELAND (POLICE MAGISTRATE).

STEALING STREET LAMPS.

Since the beginning of the year a systematic stealing of street lamps from various parts of the City has been going on, despite the efforts of the police to put a stop to it. Since 9th March alone, according to a return prepared by Mr. H. E. Y. Haggard, of the Public Works Department, no less than seventeen have been missed, and since the commencement of the present year it is estimated that at least fifty have been removed by thieves, who are supposed to sell them to dealers for what the glass and the copper fittings will fetch. On Sunday night last a Chinese plain-clothes detective arrested a native who was carrying a quantity of broken glass in a bundle, and who, on being searched, was found to have in his possession a quantity of copper of the kind used in the lamps. The copper was identified as the property of the Government, but the same certainty as to ownership did not exist with regard to the glass, which bore no distinguishing mark. The defendant was, however, convicted of unlawful possession and fined $100 or three months.

SOLE HIS OWN PROTECTION.

The boatman of the French barque C. D. Richmond was arrested in the Steg Hotel on Sunday night by P.C. Winter, who found him in possession of a loaded revolver. The boatman explained that he suspected two other members of the barque's crew of designs on his life, and he was only carrying the revolver to protect himself.

P.C. Winter afforded the man the protection of the law, and took him to the station.

His Worship ordered the revolver and cartridges to be confiscated, as the defendant had no permit to carry arms, and discharged him with a caution.

WANTED TO DIE.

On Sunday night an Indian watchman out for a stroll saw a Chinaman jump into the harbor from the Praya at Wanchai. The Indian and some others resorted the would-be-suicide, who was making every effort to drown himself; the water was not deep, and the task of getting him out was not a very difficult one, despite his struggles. Taken to No. 2 Police Station, the Chinaman said he was out of work and had had no "chow" for two days; he did not want to live, and would they kindly oblige him with a razor so that he might cut his throat?

The police request was not complied with, and the magistrate has ordered the man to be placed under medical supervision for a week in order that the state of his mind may be determined.

REGULATORY.

Early on Sunday morning three men entered a dwelling-house at 173, Des Vaux Road West and stole clothing and other property to the total value of $158.50. A larking came upon them by accident as they were sharing the spoil, and succeeded in arresting one man and taking possession of all the clothing, to the value of $150. The defendant was charged with burglary and remanded for a week on bail of $500.

TERIBLE DISASTERS IN AMERICA.

New York, 2nd June.

One of the most terrible tornadoes ever known in this section of the country passed over Gainesville, Georgia, this morning at an early hour, carrying death and destruction in its wake. Over two hundred people were killed outright and over a thousand injured to a greater or less extent. Surviving spectators say that the sight was at one and the same time sublime in its awfulness. The inhabitants of the town were first warned of the approach of the tornado by a loud roaring sound and upon looking in its direction, a swiftly moving, funnel-shaped cloud was seen approaching at an express train rate of speed. Some more fortunate than others barely got out of its way in time and then, looking back, saw the tornado pick up houses as if they were chips and lift them 100 feet in the air. The neighbouring towns are hurrying relief to the survivors.

Secretary Root has ordered one battalion of infantry from Fort Leavenworth to proceed at once to Topeka, Kansas, and give all the aid in their power to the thousands of homeless and helpless victims of the recent flood. They will also serve as police while there. He has also sent a special train to the spot, loaded with provisions and supplies and is doing everything possible to relieve the sufferers. This is decidedly the biggest disaster since the Galveston flood of a year ago.

New York, 3rd June.

Quite a good deal of alarm is being felt in St. Louis, especially in the lower portions, on account of the fact that the river is still rising rapidly and threatens to flood a larger portion of the city. The more conservative citizens are not expressing much alarm as yet, but at the same time they are in readiness to move at a moment's notice, while the lower and more ignorant classes have already begun to move out of the city. It is very probable that if the river continues to rise for another twenty-four hours, a large part of the city along the banks of the river will be inundated.

New York, 4th June.

A hurricane of unusual force struck the bay of Valparaiso, Chile, resulting in the loss of one hundred lives and twenty ships. No information has been so far received as to the class of vessels destroyed, but as Valparaiso is one of South America's most important shipping points it is expected that many of the sailing vessels in the coast-wise trade have been blown ashore and wrecked by the fury of the storm.

THE PERSECUTED JEWS.

On account of the continued persecutions of the Jews all of that sect in and around Odessa are arming themselves to the best of their ability and are making all preparations to defend themselves from the oppression of their countrymen. It is stated that quite a large number of them are ready to offer the most determined resistance to any encroachments on what they consider their personal rights and liberty.

THE U.S. PRESIDENCY.

New York, 4th June.

The Ohio republican convention endorsed Roosevelt for the presidency. The scene in the state capital greatly resembled that of four years ago when McKinley was the only man who was thought of for the position. There were several brilliant speeches made during the day, and when Roosevelt's name was mentioned, it brought forth a storm of applause that lasted for several minutes. It is stated that several other states will rapidly follow the lead of Ohio and it is barely possible that any one else's name will be mentioned in connection with the nomination.

President Roosevelt dedicated the large arsenal at Springfield, Illinois, to-day before an immense assemblage. The people for miles around the town began to come into the place at an early hour and by ten o'clock the hour set for the ceremonies, the streets near the arsenal were a seething mob of people craning their necks to get a glimpse of the Chief Executive. Special trains were also run from immediate surrounding towns, and in all there were several thousand visitors in the town. The ceremonies went off without a hitch and at their conclusion the President drove to the house of Governor Yates, being the latter's guest for the occasion.

SERVA.

London, 15th June.

Very conflicting accounts are published of the tragedy at Belgrade. They generally corroborate the original reports, and merely add painful details, showing the hatred with which Queen Draga was regarded. It seems certain that the plot culminated because a wholly subservient Skupstina was elected for the supposed purpose of nominating Queen Draga's brother as her apparent to the throne.—N.C.D.N.

A VISION OF THE TRAMWAYS.

A correspondent who holds rather morbid views on the question of the Colony's tramways, and who sees in their inception the commencement of an era of blood and slaughter, sends the following dramatic account of an episode which he declares will be of daily occurrence in the city:—

A poor old man who crossed the road. An electric car in view. He saw his danger, but alas! He was puzzled what to do. He cried aloud, his hand he raised. To the driver for to stop. The electric met the poor old soul, And killed him on the spot. The driver who was on the car, On him there was no blame. For, like a lion, at his post, He stood with might and main. The bell he rang, applied the brake, Done all that he could do; But still the car sped down the hill. And cut him near in two.

TRANS-SIBERIAN JOTTINGS.

The following interesting extracts, says the N.C. Daily News, are from a private letter written by a passenger homeward via Siberia in the train between Manchuria junction and Lake Baikal:—

N.B.—These notes pretend only to give the experiences of the particular journey by train of May 28th from Dalny. Conditions have hitherto changed every few weeks, and will doubtless continue to do so for some time. The first advice we would tender to travellers is therefore to mistrust everything you are told, especially by the various agents. To illustrate this I may mention that the existence of a new service of trains, inaugurated on 17th April, was unknown to various "agencies" in Peking and Tientsin on 18th May. The experiences of recent travellers are more useful, but here again the conditions may so change in a couple of months, that these also may be very misleading. This is what happened when I started. On arrival at Dalny I placed my baggage in the train and got the guard to look the compartment. It was a first-class for two. Tickets could not be got until one hour before the departure of the train, which was timed to start at 11 p.m.

The tickets, first-class to Manchuria junction, cost Rs. 108 each; second-class tickets cost Rs. 67. One can book no further. On arrival at Manchuria one books through to Peking first-class—second Rs. 113. It will be seen that the prices on the Chinese Eastern Railway are much higher than on the Russian State railway.

There was no difficulty at Dalny. The language difficulty is "all rot." Anyone can learn enough Russian in ten minutes to carry along with on this journey. The railway officials are obliging, the accommodation excellent. The days are over for taking the equipment of an up-country trip upon this route. The dining-car is quite good. It adds possibly to one's comfort to have one's own whisky, and a tea-basket kills time as well as anything else, but neither can be called necessities now.

The coaches are spotlessly clean; so is the bedding. Good clean pillows are provided. No bedding need be brought, except the ordinary travelling rug. There is not much room for hand-baggage. Nothing can go under the seats. If I had to define what was "a lot of hand baggage" I should say "anything more than four pieces per man." But these four might all be large kit-bags. A number of small pieces are very difficult to keep track of when changing. One is allowed 36lbs. per ticket fare in the van. A cabin-trunk owned by a couple may therefore weigh 72lbs. before it is penalised.

The trains run twice a week from Dalny, Tuesdays and Saturdays at 11 p.m. It is the only way to go home.

TIBET.

Ta-chien-lu, Tibetan border, 14th May.

THE PEOPLE EXCITED.

For several months past excitement among the people here has been on the increase, because of persistent rumours regarding the political affairs in Tibet, and there is no doubt that very important changes are taking place now both on the Indian border and in Lhasa itself. It is firmly believed here that four or five years ago a secret agreement was made with Russia, whereby Tibet was practically made a protectorate of Russia, and the Tibetan mission to Russia is said to be a result of this agreement. It is also declared that one of the arguments used by Russia in favour of this move, was that in Russia they also worshipped the great Buddha, and were therefore of the same religion, and in proof of this, those who visited Russia were shown a large image of Buddha, and were thus convinced. Another rumour is that the Dalai Lama, the King of Tibet (sic) in prison and took over the seals of government himself. This however so enraged the people that the King had to be liberated, but the Dalai Lama kept the seals, and is now ruling with a high hand, so much so that the condition of the Chinese in Tibet is becoming quite unbearable. The King it is said has succeeded, and the Dalai Lama is not looked upon as guiltless. There has also been serious trouble at Lhasa, ten days from here. Some fighting took place between the people and the priests there, and the Abbot of the monastery defied all interference by the Chinese, and was said to be supported by the Dalai Lama at Lhasa with whom he was in continual communication. This affair however is now settled, the Abbot had to flee to Tientsin, and the second head lama was made Abbot of the monastery, and to make things equal, the local Chinese official was dismissed. The most important rumour, however, is to the effect that negotiations between Tibet and the Indian Government have fallen through, and several thousand British troops have already crossed the border on their way to Lhasa. And the people here are most excited over a report, that the Tibetans have threatened, "if they are defeated by the British, they will kill every Chinese in Tibet, man, woman, and child." The delay of the new Amban from Peking is also tending to confirm their belief in all these rumours, which is to some extent interlarded with trade.—Mercury

SCOTS IN THE CABINET.

The number of Scots in the present Cabinet—twelve—constitutes the high-level mark, as no such number of natives of stern Caledonia have before been concerned in the Administration in Parliamentary history. Lord Salisbury had eight Scotsmen in each of his Ministries of 1895 and 1900; Mr. Gladstone employed eleven in the 1892 Government; Lord Salisbury had nine in his 1886 Ministry, and Mr. Gladstone put ten in office during his six months of power in the same year. If the Government posts were distributed purely by electing results in the several countries Scottish Unionists would form less than one-tenth of the Administration. That no such practice obtains is shown by the fact that nearly one-fourth of the Ministry are Scotsmen. These statistics are supplied by a Scottish correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle, who proceeds to scan the Opposition with results equally pleasing to his countrymen. All the chief figures in the Liberal ranks either hail from north of the Cheviots or represent constituencies in that region. He runs through the list: Lord Rosbery, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Mr. Asquith, Mr. Morley, Mr. Bryce, Lord Tweedmouth, Sir E. T. Reid, with Sir Edward Grey sitting for a county separated from Scotland only by a hill. A change of Government would not materially affect the proportion of Scotsmen in any new Ministry. With the exception of the Diplomatic Service, which northerners seem to avoid curiously enough, the number of Scotsmen in the public service is altogether out of proportion to their position in the census.

A Warsaw journal relates the following story of an experiment made by a Polish nobleman to ascertain how far stocks migrate during the winter. He caught a stock and attached a plate to its neck on which were inscribed the words, "Hec colonus ex Polonia." ("This stock comes from Poland"). In the following spring the same stock was found in the nobleman's park, with a bundle around its neck, containing several precious stones of great value, and the metal plate with these words on the other side:—"India domi domus remittit Polonia." ("India sends back with presents to the Poles").

AUSTRALIA AND COLOURED LABOUR.

No surprise will be felt, says the Melbourne Argus, at the attitude of the British Government with regard to the notification from Australia that in future the Commonwealth cannot be a party to any agreement for the conveyance of mails by vessels on which coloured labour is employed. Mr. Chamberlain, our London correspondent reports, has informed an Australian statesman now in London that he will be unable to endorse a policy which prevents the employment of coloured British subjects on British ships. This pronouncement was inevitable. The British Government, which has the interests of the whole Empire to consider, could not be a party to any policy which casts a direct slur on our fellow-subjects in India. The Commonwealth Parliament has intimated in a most unmistakable manner that the Imperial Government need look for no forbearance or assistance from Australia in its delicate inter-Imperial relations. It is an exceedingly convenient thing for Australia that India is in the possession of the British; but she is ready to pocket all the advantage and not forego any fed in return. There is a probability that we shall have to pay dearly for our policy, because we must now make arrangements for an independent mail service. It is extremely doubtful if we shall obtain for the £20,000 subsidy which we now pay to the Imperial mail service a special service in which there shall be no so-called taint of black labour.

The revival of this mail-contract question is one of the most discreditable incidents in the career of the Barton Government—one which marks in a special way its subservience to the dictates of the labour party. The Post and Telegraph Bill was introduced in the Senate, and there the Labour party proposed amendments to provide that in future mail contracts no addition should be made that white labour only be employed on the vessels. Senator O'Connor, the leader for the Government, opposed this amendment and said the Royal assent would probably be refused to the Bill because the British Government would not assent to legislation which interfered with the rights of millions of British subjects who were not white. The proposal was defeated, and the Bill went down to the House of Representatives where the Labour party again submitted the amendment. The Government could have defeated it as before but the Prime Minister who had not the firmness of his lieutenant in the other Chamber gave way under pressure, accepted the amendment, and it was incorporated in the Bill. It was a most slavish act of submission and was the beginning of that "Yes, Mr. Watson" policy to which Government has adhered on almost every occasion since. One notable exception to this occurred in connection with the Immigration Restriction Bill. Mr. Watson wished to put in a direct prohibition based on the ground of colour. With an unwonted and—at the time—inexplicable firmness, Mr. Barton (as he then was) opposed this proposal, and defeated it. It transpired afterwards that he had promised Mr. Chamberlain in advance that he would not consent to a colour line being drawn. It is unfortunate that he had not first communicated with the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the mail contract question. The amendment would never have been carried without the assent of the Government, the Government would not have accepted it, and we should not now be facing the probability of paying a very heavy annual sum in order to gratify the prejudices of a small section of the House.

CHINA CATTLE FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Messrs. Keylock & Pratt, of Shanghai, have been awarded the contract of furnishing 10,000 water buffalo to the Insular Government, says the Manila Times. All the animals are to be in good condition, sound, and free from any disease, between the ages of four and eight years, and weighing from 900 to 1,200 pounds each.

Fifty per cent. of the 10,000 will be oxen, 35 per cent. females, and 15 per cent. bulls. All of the animals will be immunised against rhinodermatitis by the "Simultaneous Reinoculation Method" before being shipped from China under the direction and supervision of a representative from the Insular Laboratory. The whole number will be divided into lots of five hundred each, and the shipments will be made once each month, until the total number will have been landed in Manila. All are to be delivered over the ship's side, at Manila, Cebu, Iloilo and Cebu, as the Government may direct. In case the exportation of the animals should be prohibited by the Chinese Government, or in case through the existence of a state of war their exportation is impossible, the contractors will be allowed to withdraw their contract, which will become void.

Mr. Davies, the purchasing agent, has had considerable trouble in securing stock in China, owing to the few firms which deal in cattle exclusively. He has been compelled to make small purchases from different individuals.

HAMBURG LEITER.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Hamburg, 19th May.

Of the three articles of produce mentioned in one of my former letters—coffee, sugar, and cotton —the first is still in the slough of despond; prices have not given every much, but owing to the probability of another enormous crop in the Brazil this season there is a total lack of enterprise.

Sugar has remained pretty steady, but the May tenders have checked all attempt to advance prices. There is however a very firm undertone to the market and a revival of the demand for the United Kingdom and America is shortly expected, the former more especially having allowed stocks to run down very low in anticipation of a possible reduction of the duty on the article. The average planted with beet in Europe is reported to be if anything slightly below that of last year. There would therefore appear good reason to expect a rise in prices later on. Cotton has verified my predictions more promptly and in a more pronounced fashion than was anticipated; in fact the leading markets have for several weeks been wildly excited and prices have advanced by leaps and bounds. The strong statistical position of the article and the poor quality of the present American crop have enabled speculators in New York and elsewhere to manipulate the market to an extent never known before, frightening bears into covering their sales at any price and inducing the trade to buy large quantities of actual cotton in Liverpool, which is relatively the cheapest market. New Orleans is considerably higher for the summer months than New York which is in its turn dearer than Liverpool, so that between ten and twenty thousand bales have been shipped to the States from the latter port to be tendered against future contracts there. It is said that the doings in the cotton market are beginning to cause serious uneasiness in financial circles in America, which may possibly lead to a curtailment of credits and a lull in the movement. It is also reported that one of the largest operators in New York is now selling out, having expressed his perfect willingness to allow others to profit by any further advance. He can well afford to do so, considering that he began to buy at 8s. and is now getting 11s. for his cotton, or rather for his contracts. Still a repetition of the squeeze witnessed in the month of September, 1902, when middling American in Liverpool rose to over 7s. per lb., might happen again this year. The visible supply of the world is about 600,000 tons, less than last year and with a late crop, such as the one now in the fields, it is to be expected that the late summer months must run very low; besides a great proportion being low-grade cotton hardly fit for the mills.
Left alone the article would under the circumstances probably have risen in value on its own merits steadily but slowly; both importers and the trade, as well as consumers at home and abroad, would have gained confidence and business everywhere would have been flourishing. Such violent fluctuations however, as prices, owing to continuous manifestations of the different American operators, have undergone ever since the beginning of the season, must necessarily interfere with the healthy development of trade, and so one hears from all quarters spinners and manufacturers' complaints of the unreasonableness of the present range of prices of goods. Still, from all I can learn, they are well engaged in Lancashire and are working full time in Saxony, on the Rhine, and nearly all over Germany. They are chary, however, of looking orders far ahead in view of the uncertainty of the future course of the article and the heavy discount at which distant futures are selling.

A most promising feature in the general state of affairs has been the improvement in the iron trade owing to an increased demand for the United States where the several strikes had greatly curtailed the production. It would appear however, so far at least as pig and other raw iron is concerned, that supply and demand there are becoming more evenly balanced and the enquiry here has consequently fallen off somewhat; still according to a report in the Cologne Gazette there are signs of America entering the market again and it seems as if German cast iron had lately found special favour in their eyes. Spiegeleisen and similar kinds being well known and appreciated already. Large orders for raw iron have lately been placed at prices nearly equal to those obtainable at home, when all circumstances such as export bounties, etc., are taken into consideration. All the larger works are in full swing and the out-turn in the month of March say 840,000 tons.
Raw iron has reached a figure which, if kept up, would raise the annual production to 10 million tons. Export has increased in a like manner, the quantity of goods shipped being equal to about 411,000 tons of raw iron or about 40 per cent. of the output for the month. The aggregate exports for the first three months of the year amount to 990,000 tons as against 3,300,000 tons for the whole of last year, the equivalent in raw iron being about 1,150,000 tons or quite 4,600,000 tons for the twelve months. As to the home markets, there are signs on all sides that their capacity of absorption is on the increase for all descriptions of goods but more especially for such used in the building trades.

The labour troubles at the shipbuilding yard of T. C. Tecklenborg in Bremerhaven, which it was hoped had been settled, have broken out afresh, the Unions having refused to come to terms. 1,600 men have consequently been dismissed and the Masters Association of the lower Weser have passed a resolution strongly deprecating the conduct of the men and proclaiming a general lockout, should they persist in it. The associated Unions have entered a protest against this decision, declaring their full approval of the position taken up by the societies engaged in the struggle, who from the first had left no stone unturned to bring about an amicable settlement, and casting upon the masters the responsibility and the odium of provoking a contest the consequences of which to the industries of the entire valley of the Weser may prove incalculable. In the meantime the Vulkan works at Vegesack have paid off a large number of men and other large establishments are prepared to follow suit.

The triangular duel on the Clyde between masters, men, and the executive committees of the latter, of which the English papers will have given you full particulars, has fortunately been brought to an end through the frankness of the leaders of the Unions in refusing to countenance the men's action and through the conciliatory disposition displayed on all sides.

The strike of the railway men in Victoria continues, however, the men protesting against the rigorous measures proposed and passed by the government of the colony. Labour troubles are springing up everywhere and it is to be hoped that such occurrences as the strike in Holland some months ago and that in Victoria at the present will convince even the most reluctant of the danger to the welfare of a country the combined action of trade unions may become and of the necessity of preventing their abusing their power by stringent laws.

THE BRITISH ARMY IN 1902.

A Blue-book was issued on the 21st ult. containing the general annual report for the year 1902, with abstracts from the returns for previous years. It is stated in a preface that the general annual report on the British Army forms a consolidation of various returns which it has hitherto been the custom to issue at uncertain and varying periods. Under the system now adopted it will be possible to publish the information earlier in the year and those interested in the various branches of the Army will be able to obtain all the information they require from one book. It is explained that the pressure of war has prevented the publication of this return for the years 1890, 1900, and 1901. Units engaged in active service could not supply the information required, nor, considering the manner in which they were divided, would the information have been accurate.
There are, therefore, certain gaps in this return, but these will, as regards future years, be filled up in subsequent issues.

The return consists exclusively of statistical information, and the first table (Part I.) shows the establishment and strength of the Army, Army Reserve, Militia, Imperial Yeomanry, and Volunteers, for 1902. The general total of the normal establishment is given at 336,450; the actual strength, 747,719; leaving 188,731 to complete. Table 2, Part II., shows the strength of the Regular Army, including all rank in each arm of the service, to have been on January 1, 1903, according to the latest returns, for the Household Cavalry, 1,490; Cavalry of the line, 29,297; Imperial Yeomanry, 1,610; Royal Horse and Field Artillery, 34,959; Royal Garrison Artillery, 23,174; Royal Engineers, 13,757; Foot Guards, 9,936; Infantry of the line, 176,580; Colonial Corps and Indian Infantry, the latter borrowed from India for garrison and expeditionary services, 15,503; Army Service Corps, 8,443; Royal Army Medical Corps, 6,020; Army Ordnance Corps, 2,638; Army Pay Corps, 854; Army Post Office Corps, 362; a total of all arms of 324,633.
The distribution of the Army at the same date is given in Table 6, Part II., as 153,438 in England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, and the Channel Islands; 95,475 in the colonies, Egypt, China, and Creta, including drafts on passage out; and 75,749 in the East Indies or on passage there.
Part III. gives the tables from the report of the Inspector-General of Recruiting, which have been already published in a separate Blue-book.
Table 5, Part IV., shows that the net loss from desertion during the year under consideration was, from the Household Cavalry, 14; Cavalry of the line, 357; Imperial Yeomanry, six; Royal Horse and Field Artillery, 696; Royal Garrison Artillery, 226; Royal Engineers, 66;
Foot Guards, 156; Infantry of the line, 1,929; Colonial Corps, 155; Army Service Corps, 67; Royal Army Medical Corps, 48; and Army Pay Corps, one; a total of 4,311 of all arms.
Part VI. deals with punishments and rewards, but the returns for 1902 are incomplete. The returns are also incomplete for several years in the next part, which deals with the services and ages of the non-commissioned officers and men of the different arms at home, in the colonies, and in India, showing the number serving.

BIG FIGURES.

killer, Perry Davis'. Beware of imitations.

under their original engagements and the number who have extended their service or re-engaged. It is hoped to complete these tables in the next report.

In Part VIII. some interesting information is given on the subject of nationalities, religions, and education. On January 1, 1903, there were 213,375 English non-commissioned officers and men in the several arms, 26,303 Scotch, 35,717 Irish, 8,190 born in India or the colonies, 636 foreigners, and 26,637 whose nationality is not specified. Of the non-commissioned officers and men, 195,630 were Church of England, 22,900 Presbyterians, 14,284 Wesleyans, 2,053 "other Protestants," 43,881 Roman Catholics, 159 Jews, 2,459 Mohammedans, Hindus, &c., and 2,668 whose religion is not reported. As regards the educational attainments of the Army, the following were the numbers severally of those who held first, second, or third class certificates of proficiency on January 1, 1903:—5,018, 43,257, and 3,985. The remaining parts deal with the strength and composition of the Reserve, Militia, Yeomanry, and Volunteers respectively. Information in regard to these matters has already been published separately in several instances, but the tables are now brought together in a manner which simplifies reference and in future years, when all the gaps have been filled up, the report will be still more useful.
